About D&T Evaluations

Just like D&T Translations, D&T Evaluations is a division of Global Hand Consulting LLC, formed in NJ, USA in 2015. D&T Evaluations was created to meet the demand for credential evaluations that were often requested along with our certified academic translations. Having translated tens of thousands of academic documents, we have accumulated a good deal of experience with and insight into the educational systems around the world. D&T Evaluations partners up with professional credential evaluators who, among other places, work in offices of international admissions at major universities around the United States and the world. Most of our partner credential evaluators hold memberships in well-known associations in the field of credential evaluation and international education such as NAFSA, AACRAO, TAICEP etc.
